

Berlin— Ichthyosaur State Park

Lander County

During its heyday, Berlin and its Union suburbs supported 200-250 people including miners, woodcutters, charcoal makers, a doctor and nurse, a forest ranger, and a prostitute. Many of the original buildings still remain, and some of the original residents are interred in the town's cemetery. Berlin stands today as a true Nevada ghost town, preserved for present and future generations.

The park offers camping and picnicking facilities with trails that weave among historic sites. Visitors can also take a tour of the fossil house that preserves the remains of several Ichthyosaurs, giant marine reptiles that have been designated as Nevada's state fossil.

For more information on this State Park, please visit:

<http://parks.nv.gov/parks/bi/>

